

Rediscovering Samuel Stout

Port Perry's first black resident

Join us at Greenbank United Church as we honour the life of Samuel Stout

Uju Umenyi is an emerging writer, actor and playwright who challenged herself to explore the life and times of Samuel Stout, Port Perry's first black resident. Her deep dive drew her to local historians and members of the Ontario Black History Society who helped build the framework to understand how isolating this time would have been for Samuel in the mid-1800s.

Following her collaboration with Theatre On The Ridge, Uju has breathed life into these stories. We are delighted to welcome both Uju and members of Theatre On The Ridge to present a complimentary performance, offering a glimpse into this captivating character.
